Summary

I am a BTech student in Artificial Intelligence and Data Science, deeply passionate about leveraging data to drive impactful decisions. With hands-on experience in machine learning, I have mastered tools like Convolutional Neural Networks, Artificial Neural Networks, Deep learning, XGBoost, Random Forest, and Auto-sklearn, achieving significant results, including 97% accuracy in a recent project. My expertise spans statistical analysis, optimization problems, and predictive modeling.

I have worked on real-world datasets, such as Chat bot, documents qna bot, Potato disease model with react js and tensorflow serving and docker and also emotion detection, showcasing my ability to uncover actionable insights. Currently, I am exploring deep learning technologies like CNNs and evaluating industry-preferred frameworks like TensorFlow and PyTorch to stay at the cutting edge of AI.

If you're looking for someone skilled in data analysis, ML model development, and workflow automation, let's connect! I am always open to collaborations and opportunities in the fields of data science, machine learning, and artificial intelligence.
